Personality Development Skill Course

Project Based Immersive Learning Course

Course Overview?

Education Nest's Personality Development Program (PDP) is an educational program that aims to enhance an individual's personality, whether at home or in the workplace. The program provides participants with the knowledge and skills to assess their strengths and weaknesses and modify their behavior to achieve their desired goals or attain a higher level of success. The course commences with a fundamental introduction to personality, followed by an examination of personality development theories, developmental stages, influential personality psychology researchers, and factors that affect personality growth. This comprehensive program is an excellent resource for individuals seeking to improve their personality in a structured and meaningful manner. It is suitable for both individuals and groups and offers career development and mental wellbeing benefits.

Why do you need Personality Development Skill Course?

Average Salary Growth:

The average salary growth of a personality developer can vary depending on a variety of factors such as experience, industry, location, and level of education or certification. The average salary offered for such roles is INR 2,00,000 to INR 4,00,000 per annum. According to the Bureau of Labor Statistics (BLS), the median annual wage for training and development specialists, which includes personality development, was $63,490 as of May 2020 in the United States. The lowest 10 percent earned less than $35,310, and the highest 10 percent earned more than $106,940.

Industries:

The demand for personality development in MNCs is likely to continue to grow as companies recognize the importance of developing employees' soft skills to improve overall performance and productivity. MNCs in industries such as technology, finance, consulting, and healthcare often have a strong focus on employee development and may offer opportunities for personality development training and coaching. Additionally, MNCs with a global presence may have a need for personality development training to help employees navigate cross-cultural communication and collaboration. Some examples of companies that may require Maven skills include: Amazon, BGM, Bain & Company.

Position in Market:

The Bureau of Labor Statistics (BLS), the employment of training and development specialists, which includes personality developers, was projected to grow 9 percent from 2020 to 2030, which is faster than the average for all occupations. The BLS attributes this growth to the increasing importance of employee development in today's fast-paced and ever-changing job market.
